

SAYS the Sydney Bulletin.—Full Private Henry Turner was one of the survivors of the terrible and sanguinary conflict of Isandula. He was wounded at Rorke's Drift, and there got a bullet wound in the head, a grim legacy, from the effects of which he died. On the poor fellow's death the "hat" had to be sent round to avoid a pauper's grave. This is the treatment Great Britain gives her heroes, while feather-bed heroes are decorated and paid with a liberality which would have sent the Iron Duke into a fit. The Duke of Connaught is to have an Indian command for "his services in Egypt," and even the Duke of Cambridge, who never got nearer Tel-el-Kebir than the map of the place, received a compliment for his services—hitherto undecipherable—in that marvellous military promenade. Men like Private Turner, however, who have mannaed a Thermopylae, and who die from the effects of wounds, are treated only a little more respectfully than carrion in the hands of the cat's-meat man.

PEOPLE who have lost portable property, not by the hands of a vulgar thief, but solely through the forgetfulness of friends, will read with deep emotion the following affecting hint in a London evening paper:

In the gentleman who, in the drawing-room at a Cricket Match at Moulton, Cricketers in August last, BORROWED A GOLD PENCIL CASE, WILL RETURN IT TO MESSRS. E. & E. P. & S. The Hard, Pencil, and the Moulton, and the OWNER, whose name is engraved on the pencil case, and on the gold pencil case, is a delicate compliment lies in the word—"borrowed"—another gentle hint—the pencil, returns it, he "will oblige" the owner. This is charming. There is no trace of anger at the loss, nor is the slightest ill-feeling shown the "borrower," the gentleman who took the valuable away, and who is politely asked to read the name "engraved in full" on the pencil case. This, under any circumstances, should impel the doubtless unconscious "borrower" to return the article at once, but a Partisan shot is fired in the last words. A "Masonic seal" is attached to the missing pencil, and, by implication, the owner, in a Mason, if, therefore, the "gentleman" who took the pencil case away is a Mason, here is a most powerful inducement for him to give up to a brother, in the craft the property he so forgetfully keeps. "Nothing could be added to, or taken from this advertising gem—it is perfect. But unless the advertiser is none other than our excellent friend Mr. P. H. Emanuel, late of our morning contemporary, and of local celebrity, we are laboring under some strange delusion."

ANDERSON THE WIZARD SOLD BY A YANKEE.

Professor Anderson was looking over the American and foreign newspapers in the office of the New York Tribune, when he saw that he was closely scrutinized by a gentleman of tall stature and swarthy appearance, who was evidently from the country. The following conversation took place:

"I say I am you Professor Anderson, eh?"
"Yes, sir."
"Wal, you're a tarnation smart man, I hear. You ain't got that bottle of your'n with you, have you?"
"No, sir."

"Wal, I'm from down East, having been raised in Maine, and should like to purchase a duplicate of that bottle, as I am going out tamping for me. I guess if I had your bottle, or its twin brother, I'd soon swamp the Scotches, without talking politics either!"

"I never carry my bottle with me, nor have I a duplicate of it."
"Sorry for that, sir," said the stumper.
"However," he continued, "I was once taught a trick, when a boy, but I almost forgot how the thing is done. I'll tell you how it was, stranger, as near as I can. I used to take a red cent and change it into a ten-dollar gold piece."

"Oh," said the professor, "that is quite simple. A mere sleight of hand."
"Wal, I know it's not very difficult; but as I've forgot how, will you show me?" at the same time handing a cent to the wizard.

"Oh, yes, sir, if I will oblige you. I will show you in a moment. Hold your hand," said the wizard. "This is your cent, is it not?"
"Yes, sir."

"Close your hand." The down-Easter closed his hand fast. "Are you sure you have it?" said the wizard.
"I guess I have," said he, "and I'll bet a dollar you can't change it into a ten-dollar gold piece."

"Done!" said the wizard. "Now, hold fast!"
"Yes, sir, I reckon I will—but stop down with your dollar. Here's mine!" said the Yankee.
The wizard covered his dollar.

"Now, sir, are you ready?" said the wizard.
"I ain't nothing else!" said the down-Easter.
"Change!" said the wizard. "Now, sir, open your hand."

He did so, and to his utter astonishment, he held a bona fide ten-dollar gold piece!
"Well, sir," said the wizard, "you see you have lost your dollar!"

"I guess I have!" said he, handing over the two dollars.
"Now," said the professor, "I'll bet you another dollar I'll change the ten-dollar piece into your cent again, much quicker!"

"I'll bet you a dollar you don't!" said the gent from Maine, placing the ten dollars in his pocket, and buttoning up tight. "I'm much obliged to you, professor, but I reckon I'll leave it as it is! Good morning, old hoss!" said he, walking out of the office; and turning round as he reached the door, he placed his digits in close approximation to his proboscis, saying: "I guess there ain't anything green about this child!" and left the professor in utter amazement at his coolness.

OVER-PRODUCTION.

Over-production is a relative term. There is no fixed amount of production which is just enough. The indications of over-production appear as quickly when the demand is increased, as when the supply is increased. That which is over-production under one set of conditions would be under-production under opposite conditions. Over-production is the result of industrial conditions which do not permit producers to be consumers to the extent their reasonable necessities require. There would be little over-production if the working people were sufficiently well paid, to enable them to be liberal purchasers of their own products. Under the present industrial conditions there is a tendency to over-production. While nothing is produced that somebody does not need, more is produced than there are people to buy. There is not a product of the soil or an article fashioned by human hands that could not be largely absorbed in quantity if the ability to purchase were increased. There would be more silk raised, and manufactured, for instance, if by cheapening the cost of production or increasing the compensation of working-men, a larger proportion of workers could afford to wear silk goods. It follows from this that the working-man has two enemies—the greed which secures an undue share of the joint proceeds of capital and labor, and the penalty of labor which prevents the use of things produced. This penalty is always the result of unequal conditions. The working-men of any nation will live in comfort and luxury if the conditions under which they labor will permit. The Chinese, as they appear among us, are exceptions to this rule. It must be borne in mind, however, that the Chinese, in the United States are raiders on the soil. They do not come here to live, but to make a little money to enable them to live in greater comfort at home. The effect of their labor in the American market is to increase production and relatively to decrease consumption. Every Chinaman employed takes the place of a white man as a producer, but not as a consumer. He produces more relatively to the American laborer than he consumes. The introduction of a large force of this class of laborers into the United States would result in over-production. The supply of goods would be increased out of proportion to the demand. In the East this result would be more disastrous than with us. A particular country, with a small labor force in comparison with the work to be done, can stand an addition to its labor force out of proportion to its power of consumption, better than a community where there is a man for every place where one can work. The indications of over-production, which have already appeared in the Eastern markets, will render the people of that portion of the country impatient of a disproportionate addition to the productive force. When the Chinese question comes up before Congress again, there will, without doubt, be a more earnest demand for the exclusion of that class of laborers than when the subject was first considered in our national legislature.—S. F. Morning Call.

EARTHQUAKES PREDICTED.

The following interesting article is translated from the Paris Temps.

Four years ago a captain of artillery, M. Delauney, addressed to the Academy a memorandum, in which it was stated that ten years of the last quarter of our century would be remarkable for earthquakes. It is known that not a year or even half a year passes without some trembling of the surface of the soil. However, this may be, the author of the memorandum indicated the month of July, 1883, as a period of serious earthquakes which would attain a maximum of intensity only in 1886. The catastrophe of Ichia and the immense disaster of Java would therefore be only the beginning of a remarkable period such as the human race has never known.

A committee was nominated to examine the memorandum of M. Delauney.

M. Faye, a member of the committee, explains why he has made no report upon it. The author bases his predictions on the one hand upon a series of observations upon earthquakes, on the other hand upon astronomical phenomena. This presupposes two pre-conceived ideas which remain to be proved: the first is that there exists a certain rhythm in the movement and oscillations of the liquid kernel of our planet, the second is that the phenomena which occur in the heavens directly influence the earth. The theory seemed at the outset to be hypothetical, but the committee did not think it necessary to deduce from the value of the theory is directly deduced from the value of the assertions.

Among other astronomical phenomena cited by M. Delauney as exercising an influence upon earthquakes M. Faye calls attention to that of the passage of the planet Jupiter across the swarm of shooting stars. It should first be shown upon what the opinion is based that regards this as affecting the oscillations of the terrestrial kernel. But as a fact the coincidence does not exist. M. Faye has calculated that in the month of July last Jupiter was 100,000,000 of leagues from the belt of shooting stars and that he would not cross it.

What conclusion, therefore, could be arrived at except that chance came to the aid of the author of the prophecy, that no law relating to earthquakes has been discovered, and that nothing obliges us to believe in the prediction as regards the year 1886?

It belongs to geologists and not to astronomers to seek out the laws of earthquakes. These remarkable oscillations are announced some time beforehand by very slight shocks, which the inhabitants of Sicily are well able to perceive. When the warning is received they hastily leave their houses and seek refuge in wood built cabins.

M. J. Bertrand remarks that the ten years taken by M. Delauney and assigned within a period of twenty years would, in all probability, having regard to the frequency of earthquakes, include some remarkable phenomena.

The prediction, moreover, is vague. With the exception of 1883 it indicates neither the period of the earthquake nor the place nor the district, nor even the part of the world, in which it is to occur.

TURMOIL IN EUROPE.

They have a good many unsettled accounts on their hands in the several countries beyond the Atlantic, and though from time to time some caustic critic over there denounces our political and social systems as the actual or possible cause of innumerable evils, we cannot see with the naked eye that Europe possesses a tranquillity which we are called upon to envy. Our ample cable despatches give the indications of uneasiness in every direction.

In France the Tonquin escapade is developing consequences likely to produce a mauvais quart d'heure for the Ferry Ministry. If they stop their Oriental operations now, the country will want to know why they permitted so much blood to be shed and money spent without reason; if they do not stop they may precipitate a war from which France, if victorious, can derive little material advantage and no glory, but which will be enormously expensive, and which may involve revolutionary results at home. Indeed, the Ministry do not appear to perceive what is tolerably clear to the outside world—that the decisions which are reached in this Chinese negotiation may be less critical with respect to Chinese supremacy in Annam than with respect to republican supremacy in France. It could be no great misfortune to France to have a change of Ministry; but unfortunately a change brought about by bad administration do not in that case always end at that point.

At present it is the radical element rather than any reactionary opinion which demands that the nation shall, by its representatives, have an opportunity to supervise and control the proceedings of the Ministry. This is a fair demand; but the declarations made with regard to the bearing of the French constitution on the point are not entirely accurate. It is provided by the constitution that the President shall not "declare war" without the previous assent of both Chambers; but he can, evidently, make war with his disposition and his "under obligation" to enforce the laws. Indeed, the theory of the government is that France has not yet made war at all, but has only endeavored to suppress disorders in a subjected country. If the Chinese difficulty reaches a fighting point the government will then have to convene the Chambers, and we may see the reactionary element suggest it as a radical policy in the house to push to the ultimate consequence a blunder by which they expect to profit.

Germany's proposition for disarmament, which has been received with curiosity rather than with attention, is at once an expression of the distress caused by a fearful burden, and an appeal for the reconstitution of that ancient control of Europe by European opinion, which was called "the balance of power." For Germany to dominate Europe and to bully all her neighbors with the unparalleled arrogance which she displays in this field is evidently enjoyed as a great luxury at Berlin; but it is perceived even there that this is a luxury which costs more than it is worth. It inflicts upon France from time to time a painful humiliation, but the German people who have to pay for it like it even less than their more sensitive neighbors. An agreement to disestablish the present "armed peace" and to fix the dimensions of the armies of the several Powers, and which would entitle all Europe to call for explanations in case of a proposed increase anywhere, might be a good change for the overburdened peoples; but coming from Berlin, it must necessarily be looked upon with suspicion in every other capital.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

As we anticipated, the latest Spanish revolution seems to hang fire. There is no "revolution" properly speaking, on the Spanish cards just now; but there are intrigues for place and patronage maneuvered between the several Magtates and the magnate who for the moment controls the public force has the best of the game.—New York Herald.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

As we anticipated, the latest Spanish revolution seems to hang fire. There is no "revolution" properly speaking, on the Spanish cards just now; but there are intrigues for place and patronage maneuvered between the several Magtates and the magnate who for the moment controls the public force has the best of the game.—New York Herald.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

As we anticipated, the latest Spanish revolution seems to hang fire. There is no "revolution" properly speaking, on the Spanish cards just now; but there are intrigues for place and patronage maneuvered between the several Magtates and the magnate who for the moment controls the public force has the best of the game.—New York Herald.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

As we anticipated, the latest Spanish revolution seems to hang fire. There is no "revolution" properly speaking, on the Spanish cards just now; but there are intrigues for place and patronage maneuvered between the several Magtates and the magnate who for the moment controls the public force has the best of the game.—New York Herald.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Another "boutade" from a Russian general somewhat in Skobeleff's vein is reported in our despatches. Utterances of this nature are perhaps very significant of Russian opinion within very narrow limits; but they are odd as exhibitions of how little restraint a very tyrannical government seems to have over the tongues of men who yet can do much to compromise its relations with its neighbors. If, however, the terms recently published in London of the Austro-German alliance are correctly given, there is no occasion for any Russian to indulge in grimaces toward Germany. It is said that by this alliance Austria is to stand neutral if Germany has a war with France, but to assume activity if any other Power assists France; while Germany is to stand neutral in case of a war between Russia and Austria, but to interfere if any third Power assists Russia. If Russia is to fight Austria on the point of supremacy in the Balkan countries, she could not, if she had made the alliance herself, have framed it more to her satisfaction. Austria, however, will hardly fight on those terms.

Co-day's Advertisements.

THEATRE ROYAL, CITY HALL, HONGKONG.

UNDER THE PATRONAGE OF HIS EXCELLENCY MAJOR GENERAL SARGENT, C.B., COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF H.M. FORCES IN CHINA.

THE LOFTUS TROUPE WILL OPEN THEIR SEASON THIS EVENING, (THURSDAY, THE 22ND INST.) with MESSRS. GILBERT AND SULLIVAN'S RENOWNED COMIC OPERA THE

"PIRATES OF PENZANCE" OR "THE SLAVE OF DUTY."

As performed over Two Hundred Times (by the Company) in the principal cities of India, Australia and South Africa, with great success.

CAST OF CHARACTERS. The Pirate King.....Mr. Jas. Maas. Maj.-Genl. Stanley.....Mr. C. J. Barber. Frederick (The Pirate).....Mr. F. W. Oakland. Apprentices.....Mr. F. W. Allen. Samuel (The Pirate Lieutenant).....Mr. F. W. Allen. Edward (Pirate of Penzance).....Mr. F. W. Allen. Charles (Pirate of Penzance).....Mr. F. W. Allen. The Sergeant of Police.....Mr. Jeff. D'Angelis. Mabel (General Stanley's Daughter).....Miss Victoria Loftus. Kate (General Stanley's Daughter).....Miss Florence Cunliffe. Edith (General Stanley's Daughter).....Miss Dolly Loftus. Alice (General Stanley's Daughter).....Miss Eva Lawson. Ruth (The Pirate Maid-of-all-work).....Miss Minnie Nord. CHORUS OF PIRATES AND POLICEMEN.

ACT I. THE PIRATES LAIR ON THE COAST OF CORNWALL.

ACT II. THE RESTING-PLACE OF GENERAL STANLEY'S ANCESTORS.

TIME—THE PRESENT.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC UNDER THE DIRECTION OF PROF. WILLIAM BLAKENEY.

PIANIST. MR. MAURICE WILLIAMS. New and Appropriate Scenery, by MR. C. J. BARBER. Correct Costumings and Artistic Properties.

The Opera produced under the personal supervision of MR. JEFF. D'ANGELIS.

Interval of 15 Minutes between 1st and 2nd Acts.

PRICES: Dress Circle and Stalls.....$2.00. Pit.....$1.00.

In the Subscription series no piece will be presented twice.

The Box Plan is now open at the Store of Messrs. KELLY & WALSH, where also Books of the Words may be had, price 50 cents each.

J. CHAS. DAVIS, Manager. Hongkong, 21st November, 1883.

VICTORIA HOTEL, PRAYA CENTRAL, HONGKONG.

PROPRIETORS, DORABEE & HING KEE, LATE LESSEES OF THE HONGKONG HOTEL.

THIS FIRST CLASS HOTEL situated on the PRAYA CENTRAL in the centre of the principal business localities, commands a magnificent view of the Harbour and Surrounding Scenery. From its detached position, perfect ventilation has been secured, and the whole furnished with every requisite and comfort, afford most desirable accommodations.

THE BAR, BILLIARD ROOM, and DINING ROOMS, are fitted up in a superior manner, and are all under European Supervision and Management.

The Hongkong Telegraph.

No. 568.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1883.

SIX DOLLARS PER QUARTER.

For Sale.

LANE, CRAWFORD & Co.
HAVE RECEIVED THE FOLLOWING
GOODS FOR EVENING-WEAR.

BEST FRENCH KID GLOVES, in White and Grey, with Patent Fasteners.
PATENT FRENCH DRESS BOOTS, SHOES and DANCING PUMPS.
SILK and SPUN-SILK SOCKS in Newest Styles and Colours.
CAMBRIC TIES & BOWS.
BLACK SATIN TIES.
VERY FINE FRENCH CAMBRIC HEMSTITCHED HANDKERCHIEFS.
LANE, CRAWFORD & Co.
Hongkong, 19th November, 1883. [340]

RODERICK DHU WHISKY.
A PURE FINE Flavour Blend, Equal in Bouquet and Style to the FINEST FRENCH BRANDY.
SOLE AGENT FOR HONGKONG, C. L. THEVENIN, Hongkong Hotel Building, Hongkong, 19th October, 1883. [787]

C. L. THEVENIN,
WINE AND SPIRIT MERCHANT, HONGKONG HOTEL BUILDING, HAS FOR SALE.

A FINE ASSORTMENT OF WHITE AND RED BURGUNDIES, GRAND HERMITAGE, CHAMBERTIN, POMMARD, RICHEBOURG, CHABLIS, Pils and Quarts.

OLD PORT, SHERRY, WHISKEY, COGNAC, ASSORTED LIQUORS AND SYRUPS, PERFUMERY, &c., &c., &c.
Hongkong, 17th October, 1883. [780]

FOR SALE.
H. MUMM & Co.'s CHAMPAGNE. QUARTS.....$22 per Case. Pils.....$23 per Case. Apply to MELCHERS & Co. Hongkong, 2nd March, 1882. [8]

J. AND R. TENNENT'S ALE AND PORTER.
DAVID CORSAIR & SONS' MERCHANT NAVY BOILED LONG FLAX CROWN ARNOLD, KARBURG & Co. Hongkong, 15th June, 1881. [469]

FOR SALE.
GOOD BORDEAUX CLARET $3.50. WOLFE SCHIDAM SNAPPERS $6.00. In Cases of 12 Bottles at.....

Some PRIME HOLLAND Jenever in Stone Bottles, and some POMERANZEN BITTERS.
Double Barreled Breech Loading GUNS, RIFLES, REVOLVERS, CARTRIDGES and SHOT, &c., &c., &c.
F. SCHEFFER, 21 and 23, Pottinger Street, Hongkong, 16th November, 1883. [862]

D. K. GRIFFITH.
MANUFACTURER OF THE LONDON AERATED WATERS, 7, BEACONFIELD ARCADE, (Opposite the City Hall)

Having Purchased the entire Machinery of the late Mr. E. CHAFFER'S SODA WATER FACTORY is now prepared to execute the largest orders for every description of Aerated Waters with the greatest despatch.

SUPERIOR QUALITY GUARANTEED.
Consumers are invited to try these carefully Manufactured SPARKLING WATERS. THREE DOZEN FOR ONE DOLLAR. All Orders and Communications should be addressed to The Factory, 7, BEACONFIELD ARCADE, Hongkong, 11th April, 1882. [470]

CHS. J. GAUPP & CO.
CHRONOMETER, WATCH, AND JEWELLERS, SILVER-SMITHS, AND OPTICIANS, CHARTS AND BOOKS, NAUTICAL INSTRUMENTS, Sole Agents for Louis Audemars' Watches, awarded the highest Prizes at every Exhibition; and for Volkländer and Sohn's CELEBRATED OPERA GLASSES, MARINE GLASSES, AND SPYGLASSES, No. 4, QUEEN'S ROAD CENTRAL [476]

G. FALCONER & CO.
WATCH AND CHRONOMETER MANUFACTURERS, JEWELLERS, NAUTICAL INSTRUMENTS, CHARTS AND BOOKS, No. 4, QUEEN'S ROAD CENTRAL. [471]

Insurances.

YANGTZE INSURANCE ASSOCIATION.
CAPITAL (Fully Paid-up).....Tls. 420,000.00
PERMANENT RESERVE.....Tls. 230,000.00
SPECIAL RESERVE FUND.....Tls. 318,235.56

TOTAL CAPITAL and ACCUMULATIONS, 31st March, 1883.....Tls. 968,235.56

DIRECTORS.
F. D. HITCH, Esq., Chairman.
C. LUCAS, Esq. WM. MEYERINK, Esq.
A. J. M. INVERARITY, Esq. G. H. WHEELER, Esq.

HEAD OFFICE—SHANGHAI.
Messrs. RUSSELL & Co., Secretaries.

LONDON BRANCH.
Messrs. BARKING BROTHERS & Co., Bankers.

RICHARD BLACKWELL, Esq., Agent, 68 and 69, Cornhill, E.C.

Policies granted on MARINE RISKS to all parts of the World. Subject to a charge of 12 per cent. for Interest on Shareholders' Capital, all the PROFITS of the UNDERWRITING BUSINESS are annually distributed among all Contributors of Business (whether Shareholders or not) in proportion to the premia paid by them.

RUSSELL & Co., Agents.
Hongkong, 25th May, 1883. [83]

NOTICE.
THE MAN ON INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

(CAPITAL SUBSCRIBED.....$1,000,000.)
The above Company is prepared to accept MARINE RISKS at CURRENT RATES on GOODS, &c. Policies granted to all Parts of the world payable at any of its Agencies.

WOO LIN YUEN, Secretary.
HEAD OFFICE, No. 2, QUEEN'S ROAD WEST, Hongkong, 1st February, 1882. [106]

GENERAL NOTICE.
THE ON TAI INSURANCE COMPANY, (LIMITED).

CAPITAL TAELS 600,000, EQUAL $833,333.33. RESERVE FUND.....$70,858.27.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.
LEE SING, Esq. LEE YAT LAU, Esq.
LO YEEK MOON, Esq. CHU CHIEK NUNG, Esq.

MANAGER—HO AMEL.
MARINE RISKS on GOODS, &c., taken at CURRENT RATES to all parts of the world.

HEAD OFFICE, 8 & 9, PRAYA WEST.
Hongkong, 1st September, 1882. [670]

THE STRAITS INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

THE Undersigned having been appointed AGENTS of the above Company are prepared to grant Policies on MARINE RISKS to all parts of the world at CURRENT RATES.

ARNHOLD, KARBURG & Co.
Hongkong, 3rd November, 1883. [827]

THE Undersigned have been appointed AGENTS to the NEW YORK BOARD OF UNDERWRITERS.

ARNHOLD, KARBURG & Co.
Hongkong, 15th June, 1881.

RECORD OF AMERICAN and FOREIGN SHIPPING.
ARNHOLD, KARBURG & Co., Agents, Hongkong, 15th June, 1881. [470]

UNION INSURANCE SOCIETY OF CANTON, LIMITED.

NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS.
A SECOND and FINAL BONUS of Five per cent. on Contributions and a DIVIDEND of EIGHTEEN DOLLARS and TWENTY-NINE CENTS per SHARE for the year 1882, will be Payable on MONDAY, the 22nd instant.

Warrants may be had on application at the Office of the Society on and after that date.

By Order of the Board, DOUGLAS JONES, Acting Secretary, Hongkong, 12nd October, 1883. [794]

CHINA FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY, LIMITED.

ADJUSTMENT OF BONUS FOR THE YEAR 1882.

SHAREHOLDERS are hereby requested to send in to this Office a List of their Contributions of Premia for the year ended 31st December last, in order that the proportion of Profit for that year to be paid as Bonus to Contributors may be arranged. Returns not sent in before the 30th November next, will be made up by the Company, and no subsequent claims or alterations will be allowed.

By Order of the Directors, JAS. B. COUGHTRIE, Secretary, Hongkong, 1st September, 1883. [793]

HONGKONG HOTEL COMPANY, LIMITED.

NOTICE.
On and after the 1st December, 1883, the BUSINESS of the HOTEL will be conducted by the Company. Pending the completion of the proposed alterations and repairs the DIRECTORS solicit the indulgence of the Public for any inconvenience which may be caused thereby.

By Order of the Directors, LOUIS HAUSCHILD, Secretary, Hongkong, 7th November, 1883. [841]

Intimations.

SAYLE & CO'S SHOW-ROOMS.

WE INTEND MAKING A SPECIAL SHOW

T-O-MORROW

AND FOLLOWING DAYS

OF

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S CHEAP TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED, FELT, BEAVER, AND STRAW HATS,

JUST LANDED EX "GLENARTNEY."

SAYLE & CO.,

VICTORIA EXCHANGE, HONGKONG. [730]

KELLY & WALSH'S SELECTED LIST OF WORKS OF REFERENCE.

CRABBE'S English Synonyms.
Roget's Thesaurus of English Words.
Brewer's Dictionary of Phrase and Fable.
Baker's Dictionary of Phrase and Fable.
Every Man his own Lawyer.
Stanton's Chess Player's Hand Book.
Anderson's Mercantile Letters.
Scott's Shipowner's Telegraph Code, with Supplement.
Wetmore's Commercial Telegraph Code, specially adapted for the China Trade.
Oliver's Manual of Shipping Law.
Hill's Manual of Social and Business Forms.
Tate's Modern Cambist.
Collins's History, Laws and Practice of Banking.
Money on Tea Cultivation.
Clark's Manual of Rules, Tables and Data for Mechanical Engineers.
Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, 1883 Edition.
Ogilvie's Imperial Dictionary, 5 vols. Imp. 8vo.
Chamber's Etymological Dictionary.
Routledge's Desk Dictionary, (a tiny, but very complete volume, portable enough for the waistcoat pocket.)

Ogilvie's Smaller English Dictionary—the best $1 Dictionary in the market.
Green's The Gun and its development, with notes on Shooting.
Stonchenge's The Modern Sportsman's Gun and Rifle.
Youatt on the Horse.
Day's The Race Horse in Training.
Captain Haye's Horse Training and Management.
Captain Haye's Riding on the Flat and across Country.
Hopkin's Manual of Marine Insurance.
Society Small Talk.
Manners and Tone of Good Society.
Etiquette of Good Society.
Cavendish on Whist. Dutton on Billiards.
Hoyle's Book of Games.
Walt's Graceful Riding.
Fittman's Complete System of Phonography.
MacLeod's Theory and Practice of Banking.
Kwong Ki Chin's Dictionary of English Phrases.
Carlson's Condensed Encyclopedia and Hand Book of Information.
Gossip's The Chess Player's Manual.

JUST LANDED.

MASON AND HAMLIN ORGANS.
Specially Manufactured for the Climate. We offer these instruments for the same prices at which they are sold in America. Illustrated Price Lists on application.
KELLY & WALSH—SOLE AGENTS.
KELLY & WALSH—HONGKONG.
Hongkong, 12th November, 1883. [560]

W. BREWER.

HAS LATELY RECEIVED.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR CARDS

IN GREAT VARIETY.

LET'S DIARIES, FOR 1884.

GOLDEN CLOUD TOBACCO.
OLD JUDGE TOBACCO.
AMERICAN and RUSSIAN CIGARETTES.
CIGARETTE and CIGAR CASES in great variety.
THE SMOKER'S SET, in Brass.
GROTESQUE BRASS ASH TRAYS.

NEW PHOTO FRAMES for Promenade Photographs.
EASEL PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS.
PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS in great variety and at all Prices.
POCKET BOOKS, PURSES, CARD CASES and BLOTTERS in all kinds of Leathers.
A Quantity of NOVELTIES in PLUSH and BRASS GOODS.
NEW MECHANICAL TOYS.

W. BREWER,

QUEEN'S ROAD. [784]

EX S.S. "IRAQUADDY" & "GLENAGLES."

ROSE & CO.

ARE NOW SHOWING A CHOICE AND ELEGANT ASSORTMENT

OF

MANTLES, JACKETS, ULSTERS,

DRESS MATERIALS

AND

OTHER GOODS SUITABLE FOR THE SEASON.

ALSO

A NEW DELIVERY OF

FELT AND BEAVER HATS.

ROSE & CO.,

11 AND 13, QUEEN'S ROAD. [716]

UNDER the heading "Exhibits to the Cork Exhibition, Ireland" "THE CORK CONSTITUTION," No. 13, dated Saturday, July 14th 1883, says:—

MESSRS. TURNBULL JUNK & SOMERVILLE,

"Valletta, Malta, exhibit in a tastefully arranged case, samples of their famous 'Kaiser-I-Rind' Cigarettes, and inasmuch as a revolution in the habit of smoking is now setting in, this exhibit should prove attractive to all lovers of the 'fragrant weed.' Instead of strong tobacco, often used in too strong pipes and full flavoured 'Cigars,' the mild cigarette is rapidly coming into vogue. Those now on view in the Exhibition are highly spoken of by the Press, vendors, and smokers."

SOLE AGENCY

"NOVELTY STORE,"
MARINE HOUSE, QUEEN'S ROAD.
Hongkong, 26th September, 1883. [791]

Notices of Firms.

NOTICE.

FROM this date Messrs. RUSSELL & Co. will conduct our Business at this Port, and all Communications should be addressed to them. Messrs. RUSSELL & Co. will also act as Agents at this Port for our line of Steamers.

GEO. R. STEVENS & Co.
Hongkong, 1st August, 1883. [606]

To be Let.

APARTMENTS TO LET, IN ELGIN TERRACE.

FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED ON MODERATE TERMS.

Apply to X. Y. Z., At the Office of this Paper, Hongkong, 1st November, 1883. [818]

TO LET.
"BISNEE VILLA" Pokfulam, Furnished.

No. 4, SEYMOUR TERRACE.
Apply to DAVID SASSOON, SONS & Co. Hongkong, 7th November, 1883. [7]

TO LET.
THE PREMISES now occupied by us, No. 11, Queen's Road Central.

For further Particulars, apply to Messrs. RUSSELL & Co.
GEO. R. STEVENS & Co.
Hongkong, 1st August, 1883. [607]

Intimations.

INTIMATION.

SIGNOR ANTONIO CATTANEO, of the CONSERVATOIRE DE BERGAMO and late of the ROYAL ITALIAN OPERA COMPANY has the honor to inform the community that he has arranged to remain in Hongkong, and will give lessons in Music, Singing and the Piano-forte.

CHARGES STRICTLY MODERATE.
Address—Messrs. KELLY & WALSH, Queen's Road, Hongkong, 1st March, 1883. [168]

A CARD.
PRIVATE BOARD AND LODGING can be obtained for SINGLE GENTLEMEN OR MARRIED COUPLES AT

No. 6, QUEEN'S ROAD EAST, Next Door to the Temperance Hall. Terms Moderate. Hongkong, 10th July, 1883. [552]

ROYAL YORK HOTEL, OLD STEVNE, BRIGHTON, ENGLAND.

THE above HOTEL is Centrally situated, with Suitable Rooms and ample accommodation for travellers, especially those coming from Eastern Climates. FAMILIES and GENTLEMEN will find every comfort they can wish for at the above establishment.

A. HOADLY, Proprietor.
[503]

"CLARIDGE'S HOTEL," BROOK STREET, LONDON, W.

THE above is a Commodious and Suitable HOTEL for FAMILIES and GENTLEMEN going home from the Far East. It is under the direct able Management of Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE PRAGNELL who spare no pains in providing their visitors with every possible comfort. [502]

WILLIAM SCHMIDT & CO.
GUNMAKERS & AMMUNITION DEALERS, BEACONFIELD ARCADE.

Arms, Ammunitions, and Requisites of every description.

Arms Repaired, Cleaned, or Converted at moderate charges.

Sporting Guns and Ammunition always on hand.

HONGKONG HOTEL.

HAIR DRESSING SALOON.

MR. MARMANDE begs to inform the Community of Hongkong, and Visitors, that the above Establishment is now in full working order.

He has engaged TWO FIRST-CLASS TONSORIAL ARTISTS from Paris, and his staff now consists of five competent workmen. He is prepared to execute Hair-dressing in all its branches, making wigs for theatrical purposes, or for ordinary wear, &c., &c.

HAIR CUTTING.....50 Cents.
SHAMPOOING.....25 "
SHAVING.....25 "
TRIMMING BEARDS.....25 "

LADIES' HAIRDRESSING SALOON.
Mr. MARMANDE and his assistants are always at liberty to attend Ladies at his Saloon, specially set apart for Ladies, or at their own Residences at MODERATE CHARGES.

Mr. MARMANDE begs to offer to the public his Shampoo (Wash made by Mons. Finaud who has had many years experience and guaranteed to keep for any length of time in any climate.

Monthly Customers for Hair-cutting, Shaving, and Shampooing, taken at the following prices:—
EVERY DAY.....$4.00 Per Month.
EVERY OTHER DAY.....$3.00
EVERY THIRD DAY.....$2.00

Mr. MARMANDE will receive direct from Paris a large Consignment of Perfumery and other Toilet requisites which will be open for inspection, and he is prepared to supply the same at prices which will compare favorably with those of any other establishment.

The Saloon is cool and airy, being supplied with Punkahs, and the "Fool Shampoo" is the greatest luxury of the day.

The Saloon is open from 7 A.M. till 7 P.M. for the reception of those who feel the necessity of a Tonsorial operation.
BAZORS MOST CAREFULLY RESET.
Hongkong, 12th June, 1883. [458]

Shipping.

STEAMERS.

UNION LINE.

FOR YOKOHAMA AND HIOGO.
THE Steamship "MOSSER,"

Captain Longley, due on or about the 21st inst, will have immediate despatch for the above Ports.

For Freight or Passage, apply to RUSSELL & Co. Hongkong, 14th November, 1883. [861]

"BEN" LINE OF STEAMERS.
FOR YOKOHAMA AND HIOGO.

THE Steamship "HENLARIG," expected here about the 27th instant, will have prompt despatch as above.

For Freight or Passage, apply to GIBB, LIVINGSTON & Co., Agents. Hongkong, 21st November, 1883. [869]

THE AUSTRALASIA, CHINA, JAPAN AND STRAITS STEAMSHIP COMPANY, LIMITED.

FOR SYDNEY, MELBOURNE AND ADELAIDE.
(Calling at PORT DARWIN and QUEENSLAND Ports, and taking through Cargo to NEW ZEALAND and TASMANIAN Ports, New CALEDONIA and Fiji.)

THE Steamship "SUEZ,"

Captain Dodd, will be despatched as above, on TUESDAY, the 4th December, at FOUR P.M.

For Freight or Passage, apply to RUSSELL & Co., General Managers. Hongkong, 10th November, 1883. [850]

SAILING VESSELS.

FOR LONDON.

THE A.I. British Bark "WILLIAM MANSON," Kindred, Master, will load here for the above Port, and will have quick despatch.

For Freight, apply to RUSSELL & Co. Hongkong, 8th November, 1883. [843]

FOR NEW YORK.
THE 3/3 L. I. German Ship "OTTO,"

Fortmann, Master, will load here for the above Port, and will have quick despatch.

For Freight, apply to RUSSELL & Co. Hongkong, 1st November, 1883. [819]

FOR SAN FRANCISCO.
THE Hawaiian Bark "LILLY GRACE,"

Hughes, Master, will load here for the above Port, and will have quick despatch.

This vessel has good accommodation for cable passengers.

For Freight or Passage, apply to RUSSELL & Co. Hongkong, 17th November, 1883. [866]

Mails.

U. S. MAIL LINE.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMSHIP COMPANY.
THROUGH TO NEW YORK, VIA OVERLAND RAILWAYS, AND TOUCHING AT YOKOHAMA, AND SAN FRANCISCO.

THE U. S. Mail Steamship "CITY OF RIO DE JANEIRO," will be despatched for San Francisco, via Yokohama, with the option of calling at Honolulu, on MONDAY, the 3rd December, at THREE P.M., taking Passengers and Freight for Japan, the United States, and Europe.

Through Bills of Lading issued for transportation to Yokohama and other Japan Ports, to San Francisco, and Atlantic and Inland Cities of the United States, via Overland Railways, to Havana, Trinidad, and Demerara, and to ports in Mexico, Central and South America, by the Company's and connecting Steamers.

Through Passage Tickets granted to England, France, and Germany by all trans-Atlantic lines of Steamers.

RETURN PASSAGES.—Passengers, who have paid full fare, re-embarking at San Francisco for China or Japan, (or vice versa) within six months, will be allowed a discount of 50 per cent. from Return Fare; if re-embarking within one year, an allowance of 10 per cent. will be made from Return Fare; if re-embarking after one year, no allowance will be made.

Freight will be received on board until 4 P.M. on the 2nd December. Parcel Packages will be received at the Office until 5 P.M. same day.

For further information as to Passage and Freight, apply to the Agency of the Company, No. 10A, Queen's Road Central.

F. E. FOSTER, Agent.
Hongkong, 10th November, 1883.

WANTED TO RENT.

A LARGE STABLE
Apply to R. FRASER SMITH, Hongkong Telegraph Office, Hongkong, 24th October, 1883.